DAVID ALLANSON JONES
1835-1910
A CHRONOLOGY OF HIS LIFE
WITH PARTICULAR EMPHASIS
ON HIS TIME IN BEETON
AND HIS INFLUENCE ON THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE VILLAGE

- 1835 - born in Ringwood, Whitchurch Township, York County
- when younger lived in Illinois, worked as a farmer, trained dogs and horses, sold books and fruit trees
- 1864 - came to Clarksville
- October 5, purchased part of the SW quarter lot 10, concession 8, one acre for $850.00
- married Jessier Macpherson of Montreal in Whitby, Ont.
- opened a general mercantile business with his brother Lyman on the NW corner of Main and Centre Streets
- 1865 - July 21, purchased from Hugh McCracken one-quarter acre for $425.00
- 1866 - October 1, was appointed Post Master of the Tecumseth Post Office in Clarksville
- listed in 1866-67 Simcoe Directory as Jones [sic], David A., Con 8 Lot 10f
- 1867 - acquired a 50 acre parcel in Clarksville
- 1870 - purchased two swarms of bees from a neighbour
- July 15, patented "The Jones Perfection Bee Hive"
- listed in 1870-71 Dominion Directory as Jones, David A., postmaster and dealer in lumber
- 1871 - began writing for the American Bee Journal, later also wrote for Gleanings in Bee Culture (U.S.)
- listed in the Ontario Census 1871 with wife and brother as Canadian and Christian (nondenominational listing unusual) of English ancestry
- 1872 - listed in Gazetteer & Directory of the County Of Simcoe for 1872-73 under JONES, D.A., P.M. and JONES, D.A. & L.M., general merchants, also Jones, D.A., merch't and Jones, Lyman, merch't located on Con.8 Lot10f
- leased the store out when his brother moved away and started D.A. Jones Co., Limited
- 1875 - November 1, name of Post Office changed to Beeton
- 1877 - Grand Trunk Railway brought to Beeton, station, yards and turnloop located on 11 acres of land at the north end of Beeton given by D.A.
- 1879 - January 15, became a Director of the Electoral District of Cardwell Agricultural Society
- sold a lot to St. Paul's Anglican Parish, corner of Main and Lorne, as the site of the present church
- with Frank Benton, an American, travelled to Palestine and Cyprus at his own expense to research the bee industry and find sources of queen bees. Established an apiary on Cyprus under Benton's management
- 1880 - June, returned to Beeton with a supply of queen bees
- persuaded William Colville of Cookstown to start a

- newspaper in Beeton, The Chronicle which later became The Beeton World under F. Macpherson
- produced 70,000 pounds of honey from 400 colonies. Apiary foreman paid $2 per month and boy assistants 35 cts per day
 - only honey exhibitor at the first Toronto National Exhibition
 - for several years ran a training centre for apiarists with students coming from Canada, U.S. and Europe, sometimes as many as 20-30 students at a time. They paid no tuition but assisted with the bees and could work in the factory for 10 cts an hour. Many of his students later became influential in the bee industry in Canada and the United States. The visiting students also added a bit of excitement to the Beeton social life, particularly as some of them were sons of wealthy gentry from England and Scotland.
- 1881 - charter member and first President of the Ontario Beekeepers Association
- persuaded Charles Baxter to build the Queen's Hotel. The two were close associates and it is possible D.A. put up some of the money necessary
 - referred to in the Illustrated Atlas of the County of Simcoe 1881 as "the great bee-fancier and honey producer appointed by Cardwell & Tecumseth Agricultural Society as representative to the Provincial Board"
- 1882 - February 12, elected an Honourary Director of the Society
- 1884 - was operating about 1000 colonies
- Beeton incorporated as a Village
- 1885 - April 1, first issue of The Canadian Bee Journal which he continued to publish until 1893
- with W.H. Dickson, his wife's brother-in-law, purchased the Queen's Hotel from Charles Baxter, a forced sale to satisfy Baxter's creditors
 - honey crop was 20 tons
 - planing mill at 18 Queen Street had a wood-drying kiln with 20,000 board feet capacity for drying green lumber. The mill produced sashes, shingles, lathing and bee equipment.
- 1886 - Beeton Mechanics Institute begun
- 1888 - with 2 others exhibited 30,000 pounds of honey at The Colonial Exhibition, London, England
- began to plant maple, basswood and elm trees along the streets of Beeton, pollen and nectar-producing trees for his bees
- 1890 - donated generously towards the building of the present St. Andrews Presbyterian Church. Previously had donated the land for an earlier church site which later became the Presbyterian Cemetery.
- 1891 - became the third local manager for the Bell Telephone Company until 1893, during which time the switchboard was located in the Post Office
- 1892 - October 19, Great Fire of Beeton, destroyed property on Main Street, 32 buildings including the Baxter and Commercial Hotels, a severe financial set-back. D.A. became heavily involved in rebuilding the commercial district.

- 1894 - unsuccessfully tendered to build the Town Hall
- 1895 - completed the Jones Block, a block of five brick buildings on the north side of Main Street, west of Centre Street. Opened his store, Post Office and library on the NW corner, where he had originally begun as a merchant
- 1898 - had electric light installed in the Post Office when the Village built the electric power house
- 1900 - added the block of two brick buildings at 10-12 Main Street where he relocated his store, Post Office and the library and lived in an apartment above. These two buildings were willed by D.A. to St. Andrews Presbyterian Church and the revenue continues to support the church.
- 1902 - during the Victoria Day May 24th celebration Professor Casselle brought his hot air balloon to Beeton to give an exhibition of flying. Just over Main Street he jumped out of the basket with his parachute and landed on the top of the D.A. Jones block. He would have fallen through the skylight if D.A. had not grabbed him by his legs.
- 1908 - April, death of wife Jessie, buried in Bloomington Cemetary, Stouville
- 1909 - marriage to Miss Francis Barton of Toronto
- 1910 - November 21, death of D.A. Jones of agina pectoris, buried in the Presbyterian Cemetary
- 1957 - June 1, a cairn unveiled in the Presbyterian Cemetary as a result of the combined efforts of the Georgian Bay Beekeepers' Association, the Simcoe County Tourist and Industrial Committees, the Village of Beeton, the Township of Tecumseth and the Ontario Beekeepers Association:

Here in the land he gave
For a church site
And in a community to which
He brought lasting
Beauty and fame lies
DAVID ALLANSON JONES
1836-1910
World renowned apiarist
And editor.
Born in Ringwood, Ont.,
He came here in 1867
To found his famous honey
Industry and his Bee Journal.
The basswood, elm and maple
Trees which line our streets
And the flowers which
Abound in our countryside are
His living memorials.

DOMINION CENSUS

1842. Canada West (Home District). [SCA: D.7,R.A,B.A]
Gives numbers and other information but no names.

1861. Canada West: Tay, Tiny, Tecumseth. [AO: C-1040; SCA: D.7,R.A,B.I&J. Some writing faint and impossible to read.]

Information includes names and ages of men, women and children, occupations, religion, place of birth, marital status, livestock, and building materials of house.

Those not born in (Western Canada) came primarily from Ireland, with some from England, Scotland and the United States. Most of the parents were between 40-60 with the children born in Western Canada. Religion was mostly Protestant (Church of England, Wesleyan Methodist, UP (?), Nonconformist, Quaker), with some Roman Catholic. Main occupations were listed as farmer, labourer, servant, with some building trades (carpenter, bricklayer), millowner, waggonmaker, blacksmith, shoemaker, clergy, schoolteacher. There does not appear to be any merchants at that time. Buildings were mostly log construction.

Section enumerated by Robert Clark includes Nelson, labourer; Root, farmer; Selby Evans, farmer; T.H. Washbourne, Bailef [sic]; William Sprole, farmer; as well as a shoemaker and a tailor.

92 folios were used for Tecumseth, 93 for Innisfil, 78 for Nottawasaga, 75 for Gwillimbury West, 74 for Mono, 56 for Adjala.

Minutes. 1884-1990. [?]

[Two years ago I was examining these in the New Tecumseth Town Office. At this point no one seems certain where they are but their ultimate destination is Simcoe County Archives.]

The Beeton Council Minutes contain valuable information on a number of village projects and events:

Motions to lower the assessment of the D.A. Jones C. on bees from $700 to $400 and on his factory and machinery from $1500 to $1300. (1887/05/03)

An address by D. A. Jones to Council re the building of a loopline railway from Beeton to King Station and D.A. Jones appointed one of the committee to promote the idea in other communities. (1888/08/20)

A by-law introduced "for the purpose of regulating cattle and other animals running at large in the Village of Beeton." (1888/11/12)

A motion giving permission to "those whose property was destroyed by the fire on Oct 19 last to erect such temporary buildings they may see fit for their use, said buildings to be allowed to remain for a space of twelve months from the date" (1892/10/24)

Building of Town Hall, Arthur Goldsmith tender accepted for $3500 (1893-94)

Beeton Public Library, transfer of the Board of Management of the Public Library to the Corporation of the Village of Beeton (1895/07/30)

A motion that "the committee produce plans necessary for the erection of the power house for the electric light plant. (1898/09/12) [This building later became the telephone office in 1918 and then the library in 1962.]

Beeton School affairs.

The Chronicle was started by William Colville in 1880, sponsored by D.A. Jones. It was continued by F. MacPherson and the name changed to The Beeton World and Simcoe and Cardwell Advertiser and later simply The Beeton World. Frank Somers and W.H. Davis were also early publishers. (Platt, p.157) While officially these were the owners/publishers/editors of the newspaper, D.A. Jones was the owner of the printing company and there is some ambiguity as to how independent the newspaper was from his influence. Certainly he was the recognized publisher of the Poultry and Bee Journals which were published out of the same office. The newspaper continued to support and report on D.A. and his projects such as the starting of a Mechanics Institute. (1986/11/18, p.4)

The Beeton World is a valuable source of information on Beeton and the surrounding area, containing local gossip and "Society Notes", obituaries, marriages, births, reports on local events, Beeton and Tecumseth Council and School Board minutes, reference to new Ministers and teachers, and advertisements and notices of local businesses.

"An American firm of hearth tile manufacturers are negotiating with Mr. Jones for the purchase of the land on which the old gas well is situate." (1889/0725)

"D.A. Jones is in New York purchasing the machinery required by the Toronto joint stock company formed to manufacture his patent fire extinguisher." (1889/08/15)

"On the 19th, Saturday week, 11 the contents of the Baxter House will be sold by auction without reserve, as Mr. Baxter is removing from town." (1889/08/15) [A curious notice since Charles Baxter continues to be mentioned in other documents.]

"Talking with a pretty girl will sometimes cause a man to forget where he is. This was the case with Mr. Jones on Saturday; he was carried to the Junction and had to carry his heavy valise home. (1889/12/26)

"Tenders wanted for the delivery of 50 cords 4 ft. soft wood. To be delivered prior to April 1st. D A Jones. (1890/0130)

"After March 1st the Canadian Bee Journal and the Canadian Poultry Journal published at this office, will be issued as separate publications, bi-weekly, at 75 cts each a year." (1890/02/12)

"Womans Lawful Place in the Kingdom of God Read at the Beeton A.W.F.M.S. by Mrs. D.A. Jones...woman not man's slave but helpmeet...we the sisters have no desire to usurp the authority given to our brethren...but we claim the right of free born citizens to the privilege of being co-workers in the glorious cause of extending God's Kingdom to the ends of the earth." (1890/04/03)

"Dr. Rudolph, a specialist of Toronto, is in town to-day in consultation with Dr. Brewster on Mr. D.A. Jones, who has been ill for the last four or five days." (1910/11/10)

Obituary for D.A. Jones, November 20, 1910. (1910/11/24)

Canadian Bee Journal. 4 issues. [SCA]

The Canadian Bee Journal (along with the Canadian Poultry Journal) was published and apparently largely written by D. A. Jones from April 1, 1885 until June 15, 1893. Its demise in Beeton has been related to the financial difficulties experienced by D.A. as a result of the Beeton Fire of 1892. (D.A. Jones Memorial Day pamphlet) It was later edited by R.F. Holtermann, lecturer in Bee keeping, Ontario Agricultural College and former pupil of D.A. Jones and apparently published by Goold, Shapley & Muir Co., Ltd in Brantford, which also manufactured bee keeping supplies [Bee keepers' Supplies Catalogue. Brantford: Goold, Shapley & Muir, 1897. Kate Scott Aitken Memorial Day : Beeton, Ontario June 3, 1973.
Program and copy of the lettering on the plaque.

Kate Scott Aitken (1891-1971) was born in Beeton to Ann and Robert Scott, general merchant and later a Village Councillor. A schoolteacher before she married Henry Aitken, son of the mill owner and Beeton's first Reeve, she became a poultry farmer and later a nationally known radio and T.V. broadcaster, author and international traveller. Never a Day so Bright is her book about her childhood in Beeton. at 1st Beeton Village Workshop 1.5.2004

"Beeton and Its Neighbourhood". Author and date unknown.

[NTPL-B, under Beeton - History]

500 word essay. Lists first pre-1836 settlers as William Hammell, Frederick S. Stephens, John Nelson and Selby Evans. Lists buildings located on the land purchased by Robert Clark in 1852 ("two or three vacant buildings, a log tavern, and a small house and shop, took up his trade as blacksmith and also started business as a gunsmith").

Discusses the controversy over the incorporation of the Village in 1884:

- arose at a session of County Council, June 1884
- Thomas Atkins appointed as enumerator, 781 inhabitants within the proposed limits

Beeton - Bell Company File. [NTPL-B, under Beeton - History]

Contains Fact Sheet, photos, directory listing, advertisement relating to the phone company in Beeton. Includes photo of an early telephone and of assembly on Main Street pre-1892 fire.

The Bell Telephone Company of Canada, 5 years after its incorporation, brought telephone service to Beeton in 1885 with the switchboard operated out of the jewellery store of J.F. Darby on Main Street. The first three subscribers were Beeton Printing & Publishing Co. on Centre Street, J. F. Darby, Jeweller and F.H. Macpherson, Printer and Publisher on Centre Street. The switchboard was moved to the World Building when Mr. Macpherson took over from Mr. Darby in 1887. In 1889 the switchboard was transferred to the Post Office building and D.A. Jones became the third local manager in 1891. G.T. Somers, Frank Somers, W.J. Anderson and Thomas Hammell were also early managers. Rural lines were developed by W. J. Anderson and Dr. Brewster and became the Beeton Telephone Company which connected with the Bell exchange and were operated out of the same office until they were amalgamated with Bell in 1957.

Grady, Janine. Early history of the Beeton Library: 1886-1914. Beeton: 1990. [NTPL-B, under Beeton - History - Library]

Contains a detailed account of the beginning of the Mechanics Institute in Beeton, its transition to a public library and the role played by D.A. Jones. The Mechanics Institute and later the Library were located in the Post Office and moved as the Post Office moved, both fortunately surviving the fire of 1892. D.A. Jones was apparently the official librarian with his wife actually performing the duties. Following the death of D.A. the Village Council paid Mrs. Jones $50 per year rent for the library space and $25 per year for her duties as librarian and a further $1 per year to clean the library.

On display in the Library is a painting of D.A. Jones. He had a modest handlebar mustache and full trimmed beard, light reddish brown hair. He looks like profiles of a younger, less rotund

Edward VII, but still a substantial figure at the time of the painting.

Kremer, Christine. "A look back at The Great Fire of Beeton." Beeton: Beeton Record Sentinel, October 19, 1992. [NTPL-B under Beeton - History - Beeton Fire Department]

Includes reprints of articles from The Beeton World and other area newspapers and a history of the Beeton Fire Department. While the fire caused no deaths it devastated the commercial district of Beeton and caused much hardship for the families and businessmen, including D.A. Jones. A Fire Brigade was established in 1894 and a water system completed the same year.

Simcoe Manor: Simcoe County Home for the Aged Official Opening Tuesday, October 27, 1953. [Barrie]: Press of the Barrie Examiner, [1953]. [NTPL-B, under Beeton - History - Simcoe Manor]

Contains a brief history of the Manor from its building in Beeton as the House of Refuge in 1898 for a total cost of $36,798.92. The Reeve of Beeton at the time, G.T. Somers, and the Council had lobbied vigorously to locate the building in the Village with various inducements such as free water for fire and domestic purposes, electric light and telephone for a period of ten years, as well as the presence of the Grand Trunk Railway (Platt, pp.83-85). The first Superintendent was John Ross with his wife Margaret Ross as Matron. It was determined by the County Council that the cost of maintenance of each inmate, provisions and clothing, committed to the House of Refuge would be born by the inmates's municipality. At times The Beeton World would report disagreements between Councils as to the home of an indigent inmate. By 1899 there were "48 inmates, 42 males and 6 females, the age of the oldest being 100 years and the youngest 7 years." The original building was added on to in 1953 and then replaced in 1974.

Chapters are devoted to particular topics such as Civic Development, Industry, Sports and Recreation, Churches and Schools, Life in Beeton, etc. Includes reproductions of the original Crown Purchase by Robert Clark, 28 January, 1856, photographs of Village scenes, 10 page reminiscence by D. W. Watson at age 94:

"So the next best thing we got was the Grand Trunk Railroad in 1879 from Georgetown. Of course D.A. Jones turned the first sod for the Rail Road. It was just in the West end of Beeton near Mr. Wright's barn and that was where the station was to be built. But D.A. did not like that as he owned mainly all the land in the North end of the town and so he gave them the land free if they would build down there and so they did and by being so it killed the plan as it cost too much to keep the streets in repair and made it too much scattered as he laid the whole north end out in streets and planted all the trees on them but some were near ---- some were soft Maple, Basswood & Elm and some of them now are three feet through. I drove the team for him when they were first planted and he would have got paid for them but never collected a cent. [On the request of D.A. Jones Beeton Council had decided to pay residents 25 cts for each tree planted along the streets of the Village]...I worked my first year at the Printing as D.A. Jones printed the Bee Journal, Poultry Journal and the local paper. I had to carry all the wood and water up one flight of stairs to run the boiler & I had to run the presses and I received 25 cents per day but I did not pay any board money...I stood beside Sir John A. MacDonald [Platt: Mr. John MacDonald, later a Senator] in Beeton to see him lay the corner stone for the New Methodist Church [Trinity United] on May the -- 1878... One of the first Fall Fairs we had in Beeton was in 1879 and we have had them ever since and one of the best Fairs in the County. The first Fair Building was built by D.A. Jones on the Main corner of Beeton Centre Street and Queen [Platt: the Agricultural Hall, built behind the Traders Bank next to the first location for the Fair Grounds] and was used also for a skating Rink it was 60 by 150 there was a swing(?) in the centre of the building clean up to the peak and it was made out of two steel Racks (?) 3/4 inch steel and 30 feet up so the P-- and ---- men could go from rafter to rafter... We used to have our own rope walker by the name of Jake Owen and the first time he walked it was from my Father's drug store over to D.A. Jones store on the Main Street... I used to drive the team for the D.A. Jones Co and many the day I would bring a ton of honey into Beeton from the ----- yards of which he had six of them in the ----- and one right in Beeton on the Main Street in connection with his grape yard as it sure was a good one as I had many the feed off of it and also capping of the honey when we strained it to get the honey out be as high as 1000 hives of bees from his 6 yards. He sold a car load of honey both in the comb and liquid some as cheap as 25 cents a bottle. They also done a big business in the factory making all kind of Bee supplies." (221-225)
