Keep the spoiler alert in mind!

In the book "Fault In Our Stars" a girl named Hazel Grace suffers from Thyroid with mets in her lungs. Her doctor suggests that she should go to a Cancer Kid Support Group, Hazel doesn't want to go but her interactive mother forces her to go. There comes a sharp turn in her unpleasant life when this kid named Augustus Waters shows up and makes things a little bit interesting for Hazel and himself. They start to hang outside of the Support Group and what they realised is that they both have something common and that is their love for the book "An Imperial Affliction." Hazel has always wanted to know what happens at the end of the book as there was a cliffhanger so Augustus plans a trip to Amsterdam to ask the author questions about the ending of the book but it doesn't turn out the way she expects as the author is very disrespectful and doesn't answer all their queries. But on the brightside Augustus and Hazel are in love with each other until..... Read the book to see what happens next!
